cape fear Wheat. We were shown yesterday a sample of wheat which was grown by Mr. Owen D. Holmes, Jr., on the rice lands of Kendall plantation twelve miles below the city. The results from this experimental cropare highly gratifying to Mr. Holmes and may prove to be the harlinger of beighter and better times for the owners of rice lands on the Cape Fear river. Mr. Holines crop averaged him thirteen busitels to the acre. Some of the band made as high as twenty bushels. At of it he thinks would have come up to that yield if a good stand could have been obtained. He planted two varicties, the Early May and the Fultz Harly May were six mehes long and filled out to the end.

It has been shown beyond doubt that the rice lands of the Cape Fear can be most profitably cuitivated in all the cereals. Rice, corn, oats, and wheat have been succe fully grown on them Col. John D. Thousands Upon Thousands of Dollars Worth of Property Destroyed [Fr m the Asheville Citizen.] The continued rain of last week (lasting five days) throughout this section of the State caused a freshet in the French Broad and many of the streams contributing to it unequalled by anything that has occurred during the present century. Tradition reports similar freshets in the French Broad in 1795 and in 1714, but the present generation has never witnessed or experienced such general destruction along the line of this stream. On Thursday morning the French Broad commenced rising rapidly at this point, and by Friday morning it became a moving terror, having gained the bottom lands on either side and sweeping everything before it. Throughout the day and night and until late Saturday afternoon the river continued to rise notil it stretched from hill side to hill side, having swept everything movable before it. The banks of the river on both sides were throughd with people watching the movement of this unwieldy body of water, and at Smith's bridge, just opposite this place, many persons were continuously engaged in anxiously or twenty-four hours was entirely at the mercy of the raging water which was washing against its bottom, and
